

Free class for parents

Community Resources

Thursday, April 8th from 7 - 8 PM

Children of all ages, especially children with ADHD, Autism or Learning Disabilities, often struggle with academic performance. Organizing school work, keeping track of assignments and just keeping up with the daily grind of school work can be very challenging and daunting. This parent workshop will help parents better understand what Executive Functioning is, how it may impact their child in school and learn ways to address these issues.

Class presented via Zoom
Register at <http://bit.ly/3vXUp1d>

Presented in partnership with the Utah Parent Center and select Charter Schools.
If you have questions please call Rochelle Thompson, Utah Parent Center Parent Consultant at 801-707-6036 or email rochelle@utahparentcenter.org

Utah Parent Center

Bringing Hope
Opening Doors
Elevating Inclusion