NEW UMA GROUP OFFERS HOPE TO CADETS

by Mr. Phil Francis, UMA Hope Squad Advisor

Did you know we have a number of dedicated cadets here at UMA who are committed to create a culture of safety, inclusivity and acceptance? Meet the HOPE Squad! These Academy leaders are a resource for you to talk with when you need someone to listen. Most of the time our problems are much bigger in our heads than they are in reality. Sadly, most people go about their day stressing about their issues without ever talking them out or asking for help.

Over the course of the next four weeks, the HOPE Squad will be promoting wellness and encouraging cadets to take steps to safeguard their mental health. If you are ever experiencing urges to harm yourself or others, please don't carry this load alone. HOPE Squad members are here to guide you to the services that will help you find peace or resolution with difficult experiences. These urges can pass with guidance from a professional who can help you restore hope and lighten your load as you progress into the future.

Current HOPE Squad members: Levi Hinrichs, Art Klingenberg, Malaya Larsen, Mary Seipert, Brenna Williams, Everitt Squire, Stevie Seward, Mallorie Andersen, Easton Olsen, Faith Thorsted, Mr. Francis, Ms. Daw.

If you are interested in joining the Hope Squad, please reach out to any of us and we will get you plugged in!

Utah Military Academy Hill Field held their Back to School Night on September 1st. It was a pleasant and cool night with laughter and fun in the air. Hundreds of students, parents and other community members attended the scheduled event, held to showcase and highlight the programs and activities of Utah Military Academy. There were smiling faces everywhere having fun. Food trucks and prizes filled the parking lot.

There were a lot of fun and unique activities to do. Mrs. Carter ran a sidewalk chalk art station. She gave people chalk so they could draw on the sidewalk. The Rangers team had a table set up to recruit people. Col. Carlisi, Major Setera and others ran a Civil Air Patrol recruiting table.

United States Air Force brought their flight simulator for everyone to try. There was a rock climbing wall, provided by the Army National Guard. Recruiters were present to provide more spirit to UMA cadets and give them guidance for their future. The spirit team sold cookies and gift bags to raise funds for spirit activities.

The Student Body Officers and the Back to School Night committee had a lot of games set up with prizes that people could win. The eighth graders had a ping pong tournament/toss. The ninth grade had blind folded basketball. The little kids didn't have to be blindfolded. It was amazing the kids had so much fun with that.

The tenth grade S.B.O.s set up three cornhole boards that were free to play at any time. The eleventh grade did something risky but super fun. They had balloon darts. People really enjoyed that.

The twelfth graders did a giant volleyball game. The executive team of S.B.O.s sold food, candy, and soda outside the gym. The spirit team sold cookies and popcorn. The Hope Squad handed out cards and candy.

All in all, most of the sports and activities of the Utah Military Academy were represented well and everyone seemed to have a great time.

JROTC: READY FOR GREATNESS

Teams Excited to Begin

As our new year kicks off, all our JROTC teams are thrilled to resume their activities. When asked to give a few words, Mikayla Erikson, the Commander of the Armed Drill team, enthused, "I am very excited for this upcoming drill season. Tryouts went great and we have a fantastic team. I have full faith that we will be successful at all of our competitions this year!" As for the Unarmed Drill team, Commander Falkner commented, "Chef, the state fruit is the cherry." The Archery Commander Cecilia Hoyt reminisced, "Archery's been fun ever since I first started in 9th grade; I've learned and improved more than I ever thought I would. Coach Sage also has the best dad jokes in the school." The Rangers Commander, Boston Schilleman, proudly stated, "My dream has finally come true. Finishing out my high school career has been a dream for years. Leading something so amazing, watching it grow and keep winning. I just want to keep proving we are the most elite program out there. This year will be great, especially because of the cadre commanding it. The coaches are great, and I love my deputy, Gavin Brandon. Truly, just a splendid Ranger team."

UMA cadets would be remiss to not get involved with one of our many impressive JROTC teams.

CADET OF THE MONTH: A NEW AWARD

Speaking of impressive, the cadet wing staff has designed an all-new honor to be awarded to worthy cadets. We proudly introduce: The Cadet of the Month! Every month, flight commanders and other staff will be on the lookout for cadets who show exceptional displays of our core values: integrity, service, and excellence. These nominations will be carefully considered, and one outstanding cadet will be chosen. This cadet will be recognized for their hard work with an announcement and certificate, signed by the Wing Commander and Vice Commander themselves.

This award is open to all cadets attending Utah Military Academy. Make sure to put your best foot forward in all that you do, because your effort will not go unnoticed, and this year's very first Cadet of the Month could be you!

E.A.S.E. TEAM SUPPORT FOR CADETS AND FAMILIES

by Cadet A. Brady

The newly established EASE program provides outreach to struggling cadets and families and is having an immediate impact on cadet attendance and academic success.

Ms. Jordan Stumph and Ms. Crystal Tweeten were brought to UMA to create a program that would be a support for cadets. The E.A.S.E. program stands for Economic, Access, Social and Emotional needs. Many cadets have economic needs, which is why the EASE program advocates

Ms. Tweeten works with a cadet on not only finishing his homework, but completing it in exemplary fashion.

SEPTEMBER SERVICE

Our school has organized an exciting array of service projects this month for our wing to participate in.

- Sept. 10th, from 1430-17:00, up to 40 cadets will go to help clean at the Air Force Museum.

- Sept. 11th, from 0945-1200, 5 cadets will serve as ushers at the Mayor Brent Taylor 9/11 Weber Remembers Event at Weber County Fairgrounds.

- Sept. 13th, 20th, and 27th, from 1730-1940, cadets will provide babysitting services to parents during their meetings with school social worker, Dr. Phil.

Make sure to take advantage of our service opportunities, and get your service hours in before promotion season rolls around!

GETTING THE JUMP ON PROMOTIONS

At the end of this term, we'll be starting this year's first round of promotions! Make sure you're on track to meet the requirements to rank up! To promote, you'll need five hours of service, and no more than one F on your quarterly grades.

For positions E1-E6, you'll need a minimum of a 2.0 GPA. If you're eyeing positions E7-E9, make sure you have at least a 2.5 GPA. Officer positions require a 3.0 GPA minimum, and you must be passing your JROTC class with a C or higher.

Don't let your grades slip too far, start signing up for service projects, and hopefully you'll earn shiny new ranks of your own by next term!

HOMECOMING PLANNED!

by Cadet R. Wright

Many of the cadets here at UMA have been looking forward to dances and other events because, as we all know, Covid has forced most of these events to be postponed or cancelled. Now that many of these Covid restrictions have been lifted, we are finally able to have a Homecoming Dance!

The Student Body Officers have announced that the theme of this year's homecoming dance will be The Enchanted Forest! The theme will allow the SBOs to be creative in providing a lot of fun things to do and a lot of creative foods to be offered.

A Homecoming Spirit Week is being planned in conjunction with the Homecoming Dance. A variety of activities will be offered to all cadets during their lunches throughout the week of September 20th.

The UMA Homecoming Dance is a chance for everyone to reconnect with others, relax and not worry about any of the drama going on.

The dance will be held on Saturday, September 25th. The time of this dance will be from 6:00-9:00 pm and concessions and refreshments will be provided. Prices are $10 for a single person and $15 for a couple.

The Enchanted Forest theme will provide colors such as green, teal, and white. The dance will take place in the Utah Military gymnasium. A photo shoot will be provided for cadets by Bell Photography that will include a personalized background for cadets.

The Student Body Officers will be working hard to create a special event for all high school cadets. Everyone is encouraged to attend, to participate, and to enjoy!

PARENT-TEACHER CONFERENCES COMING SOON!

Utah Military Academy will hold its Parent-Teacher Conferences on Thursday, September 16th from 4:00 to 8:00 p.m. Parents are encouraged to attend with their cadets as they meet with teachers to discuss the content and curriculum of courses as well as the progress that students have made so far. Parents are also encouraged to share any questions or concerns they have regarding their cadet's learning.

Here are some tips for parents, reprinted from the Harvard Family Research Project - www.hfrp.org

A Tip Sheet for Parents

As a parent, you are your child's first and most important teacher. You and your child's school have something in common: You both want your child to learn and do well. When parents and teachers talk to each other, each person can share important information about your child's talents and needs. Each person can also learn something new about how to help your child.

Parent-teacher conferences are a great way to start talking to your child's teachers. This tip sheet suggests ways that you can make the most of parent-teacher conferences so that everyone wins, especially your child. What should you expect?

- A two-way conversation. Like all good conversations, parent-teacher conferences are best when both people talk and listen. The conference is a time for you to learn about your child's progress in school: Ask to see data about your child's attendance, grades, and test scores. Find out whether your child is meeting school expectations and academic standards. This is also a time for the teacher to learn about what your child is like at home. When you tell the teacher about your child's skills, interests, needs, and dreams, the teacher can help your child more.

- Emphasis on learning. Good parent-teacher conferences focus on how well the child is doing in school. They also talk about how the child can do even better. To get ready for the conversation, look at your child's homework, tests, and notices before the conference. Be sure to bring a list of questions that you would like to ask the teacher.

- Opportunities and challenges. Just like you, teachers want your child to succeed. You will probably hear positive feedback about your child's progress and areas for improvement. Be prepared by thinking about your child's strengths and challenges beforehand. Be ready to ask questions about ways you and the teacher can help your child with some of his or her challenges. His or her strengths? How could he or she improve?

- Assignments and assessments. Ask to see examples of your child's work. Ask how the teacher gives grades.

- Support learning at home. Ask what you can do at home to help your child learn. Ask if the teacher knows of other programs or services in the community that could also help your child.

- Support learning at school. Find out what services are available at the school to help your child. Ask how the teacher will both challenge your child and support your child when he or she needs it.

UMA MAN OF ALL SEASONS

by Cadet C. Roybal

Senior Ty Olsen smiles as he recounts the fourteen years that he has played baseball, including his participation in last year's Utah State Division II Championship at Utah Military Academy. Olsen has played pitcher, catcher and short stop at UMA since his entrance as a seventh grader several years ago. As Coach Vawter explains, "It was the best day of Tyler's life, [when he decided to go to UMA.]"

Olsen recalls that the result of winning the championship "made the team bond more and form better friendships." It also helped the school because it raised the expectations for other teams at the school. Baseball's success last year showed other teams that it was possible to win a championship and has encouraged other athletes and teams to make a commitment to sports at school.

Though he recognizes that the team is different with the graduation of some players and the fact that some seniors decided to leave UMA, he recognizes that that is part of life. He admits that the team's success was in part because they had played together for so long; it was easier to play together. Even though the baseball team only has two seniors this year, Olsen is optimistic for the younger team having a chance to work and grow together.

Olsen is also trying out a new sport this fall: while playing baseball, he is also decided to play boys' volleyball. His first time playing, he admits that he is still trying to find a good balance between practices and games for both teams.

When asked about volleyball, he explained that he wishes that he would have played volleyball earlier in his high school career. He is excited to play it his senior year.

Truly as a man of all seasons, baseball and volleyball are not the only activities that Olsen participates in. He was part of the track team last year, competing in the 100 meter dash and qualifying for state in the javelin.

In addition to the sports and the academics in school, Olsen also runs his own lawn mowing business. When he finds free time, he likes to spear fish, fly fish, duck hunt, cook and forage.

OPINION

by Cadet J. Williams

In high school, it's a growing issue when kids come back from lunch late. Sometimes this could be because they go off campus to eat and while off campus traffic could be a problem or the wait to get food. Either way, I think we can all agree that lunch times are just too short. In junior high, since cadets are not allowed to leave the campus for lunch, it doesn't strike as a growing issue for them. Staying in the cafeteria for lunch is something that a lot of cadets do as well and even though it might not seem like they need a longer lunch time, it still doesn't give them time to properly socialize with their peers. Allowing students to have a longer lunch time will not only let them socialize and have a little more time to go through the midday lunch rush, but studies have shown that the longer lunch times are, the more likely kids are to consume their food and all the nutrients they need. According to Kingcounty.gov, kids who have enough lunch times develop better social skills. In my opinion, I think lunch times are not only a benefit for kids going off campus but also a benefit for kids who eat in the cafeteria. When you go off campus, you have to go through the troubles of traffic and lines and sometimes it's difficult to choose what to eat, and don't get me started on the wait times in most restaurants. Point is that authorizing longer lunch times will give cadets a chance to socialize with peers so they won't have to do so in class, and there will be fewer tardy cadets because they would have enough time to go get something to eat and go back to campus.

RESTAURANT REVIEW

by Cadet M. Cuellar

Chick-Fil-A is my favorite restaurant. One of my favorite items is the Spicy Chicken Deluxe. My favorite sauce and drink are the Chick-Fil-A sauce and Sprite. I also recommend that you order some chicken nuggets. It does take a while to get food, but the wait is definitely worth it. They have good customer service and are usually super respectful.
